1. Introduction

1.1 Overview

The Regal Time project is a beginner friendly educational initiative build with the motive at designing and developing an ecommerce watch website. This project is a part of our coursework and is designed to help us understand and apply the fundamental concepts of web development (HTML, CSS, JavaScript). We mainly focused on creating a simple, functional, and user-friendly website under limited and very specific resources.

HTML 5 is used to structure the website's content, CSS3 for styling and layout designing and JavaScript for making functional forms and interactive features. This project has helped us to bridge our theoretical knowledge of these tools with practical implementation.

Since this was our first project, we mainly focused only on fronted development ensuring that the website was clean, intuitive and aligns with the Regal Time brand identity. We intentionally avoided using any frameworks or libraries like Tailwind CSS, or NextJS to solidify our understanding of fundamentals.

This project was developed under tight deadlines and limited resources, which added challenges but also made it a highly rewarding experience. It taught us the importance of teamwork, problem-solving, and effective communication. The project is not just a website for us, it's a steppingstone in our journey as web developers.

1.2 Goals / Objectives

1.2.1 Goal:

The main goal was to design and develop an e-commerce website for a store specializing in various types of watches.

1.2.2 Objectives:

- To showcase our basic understanding and proficiency in fundamental Internet technologies and their impact on our day-to-day life.
- To understand the principles of web design and required web technology tools.
- To acknowledge the scripting languages and feel the real-world usability considerations.
- To Highlight the transformative role of technology in reshaping consumer behaviour within the watch industry
- To meet the coursework requirements.

1.3 Tools Used

1.3.1 HTML

Hyper Text Markup Language (HTML), the core markup language of the World Wide Web, was originally designed for the semantic description of scientific documents. Over time, its versatile design has allowed it to evolve and adapt to a wide range of uses like describing diverse document types and building complex web applications (WHATWG, 2025).

In our project, we have used HTML to give structure to the webpages. Different types of tags were used as per requirements. Semantic tags like `<header>`, `<nav>`, and `<footer>` are used to provide a meaningful and accessible structure. Inline elements such as ``, ``, ``, and `` allowed us to style text, create links, emphasize key points, and display images seamlessly within the content. Block elements like ``, ``, `<h1>`, and `` helped organize the layout into clear sections, paragraphs, headings, and lists, ensuring a logical and visually appealing design. Many other tag were also used as per requirements. Together, these tags ensured my website was user-friendly, accessible, and well-structured, aligning with both user needs and SEO best practices. necessary comments were added for readability and maintainability.

Cascading Style Sheets (CSS) is a language which render on how a structured document (HTML/ XML) should look like. It controls the visual presentation of documents without changing the meaning of content present over there (W3C (World Wide Web Consortium), 2023).

The use of CSS has been implemented on many different aspects like arranging the Navbar and giving them hover effect. The layout of items in product page was also made look prettier due to CSS. In short, everything that look pretty and attractive in this website is almost done by CSS.

CSS has been used in three different ways as per requirements. The external CSS was used to apply header and footer styling on all the pages. Similarly, internal CSS was used differently in every webpage to preserve their identity. The layout form of product page using flex attribute of display property and the arrangement of different icons on different places of Home page to make it user friendly is its example. Similarly, to override these effects on specific parts and to style each element differently, inline CSS was used. The use of CSS was made easier to understand with the use of comments.

1.3.3 JavaScript

JavaScript is a programming language, mostly known as scripting language for web pages, though it can be used in other environments like node.js as well. It supports first class functions (function passed as variable to other function), multi-paradigm (OOP, Imperative, Declarative) and many more (mdn web docs, 2025).

JavaScript was mainly used to make webpage functional. The use of JavaScript in this project can be seen in form validation, for instance, the form regarding feedback on Contact page. Changing the different colour of watch of a specific brand on individual product page is also implemented with the help of JavaScript. Similarly, JavaScript was used in the used to make cart counter. A review system is also introduced into every product where customer can give rating and feedback.

The use of JS in our project has helped to dynamically change the content in site. It helped us to implement our creative thoughts into practicality. Both the internal and external JavaScript has been used in our project as per requirements. The use of comments and proper indentation is also implemented to ensure maintainability and reader's understanding.

1.4 Verdict

The Regal Time project provided important learning to our team, linking the theoretical approaches of web development to real-world practice. We developed an e-commerce website using HTML5, CSS3, and JavaScript, focusing on front-end development without frameworks. Despite problems such as the tight deadline and scarce resources, we did not forget about the clean, user-friendly interface. The feature set includes a review section, add to cart functionality, and form validation in JavaScript, showing our dynamic development skills. This project increased not only our technical ability but also taught us the importance of teamwork, communication, and time management. Working remotely was a challenge in itself; however, we seamlessly combined our creativity and hard work to produce the final product. Future development will include back-end integration, responsiveness, advanced e-commerce features, and AI enhancements. Regal Time represents our growth, problem-solving skills, and determination, giving us confidence to tackle more complex projects.

2. Discussion And Analysis

The Regal Time project core target was to design an ecommerce website for watch store. Our store supplies watch of three different brand: Samaya, Gurkha and Tissot. We have used the tools like HTML, CSS and JavaScript for creating the website. All the important tags we learnt in our lecture and tutorial class along with comments have been covered here. This has ensured the practical implementation of our knowledge.

Technology has become very important in today's business environment in terms of driving efficiency, improving customer engagement, and expanding the reach. Indeed, no business flourishes devoid of technology. For the watch store, this e-commerce website is quite important for boosting convenience, increasing reach, and competing in the digital era. Tools like VS Code were instrumental in coding and collaboration, while Balsamiq made wireframing and UX design less painful, hence development was smooth. Our website also includes key pages such as the home page, product page, research page, blog, about us, and contact page. Each one of these combinations assures greater user experience, engagement, trust, and more reliable to customer.

2.1 Use of Text Editor

A text editor is a software application that enables users to create, view, and modify plain text files. They can neither change font size or embed the image. Despite this limitation, text editor can alter how text should look like (Sharpened Productions, n.d.).

There are many texts editor available in internet. Some of them are

2.1.1 Text Edit

Using a mac, you don't need a special app to write or edit HTML code — just use TextEdit (Apple Company, n.d.).

2.1.2 Slime Text

The sophisticated text editor for code, markup and prose (Sublime HQ Pvt Ltd, n.d.).

2.1.3 VS Code

Visual Studio Code (VS Code) is a source code editor developed by Microsoft for Windows, Linux, and macOS (Visual Studio Code, n.d.).

Out of many text editors available there, our team decided to use VS Code. It was simply because we all were previously introduced to this tool and it's free to use.

It comes with built-in support for JavaScript, TypeScript, and Node.js and has a rich ecosystem of extensions for other languages (such as C++, C#, Java, Python, PHP, Go) and many more. We can even get the built-in git support. We can debug code directly from the editor. The VS Code extension marketplace offers a vast collection of extensions that add support for new languages, debuggers, themes, and other tools. This is a crucial aspect of VS Code's power and flexibility (Visual Studio Code, n.d.).

2.2 Use of Wire Framing Tool

Wireframe basically refers to visual representation of website's layout and functionality. It's like a blueprint or skeletal framework that outlines the structure of the site before any visual design or coding takes place (Coursera, 2023).

There are many tools for making wireframe. Some of them are:

2.2.1 Figma

Figma brings powerful design features and more efficient workflows together in one platform (Figma, n.d.).

2.2.2 Sketch

Sketch is a toolkit made by designers, for designers, that puts the focus on you and your work (Sketch, n.d.).

2.2.3 Balsamiq

Balsamiq Mock-ups is a wireframing tool that focuses on creating low-fidelity wireframes quickly. Its hand-drawn style makes it clear that the design is still in the conceptual phase (Balsamiq, 2024).

Out of many wireframing tools available there, we decided to use Balsamiq wireframes. It was simply because it is beginner friendly, and our tutors has suggested us to use this tool for wireframes.

Balsamiq is a rapid wireframing tool that helps designers, developers, and product managers quickly and easily visualize their ideas for websites, mobile apps, and other interfaces. It's known for its distinctive "sketchy" or hand-drawn style, which encourages a focus on structure and functionality over visual polish in the early stages of design (Balsamiq, n.d.) .

2.3 Different Webpages

2.3.1 Home Page

This page offers a welcoming introduction for clients and visitors. It provides the overview of store and highlights the featured watch collections. This page provides choices of luxurious watches in clean and modern designs. A video in background attracts the consumer's eyes with a slogan that says, "Discover Luxury Watches". The list of featured products carries images, name, prices, and the "Add to Cart" option, making for easier browsing and purchasing. It also gives an overview of all the pages, including Products, Blog, Research, and About Us, with visual hints and links. Logos of top brands like Samaya, Tissot, and Gurkhas is shown because watch of those brands are available in our store. A footer containing social network links, company information, methods of payment accepted, and legal information closes the page, giving users multiple ways to engage and make a purchase.

Internal linking is ensured in overview, featured products and navigation bar. Also, external links can be seen on footer section which redirects to other social media platforms. On clicking add to cart option, a function is called which increases the number in cart counter.

2.3.2 Product Page

The product page of Regal Time presents the diversity of watches in a clean grid view for the most convenient browsing and buying. Each timepiece is presented in a professional, high-quality image on a crisp white background, which draws one's eye immediately. Under each picture comes the brand followed by the name, such as "Brihaspati," "Alankaar," "Casual," then followed by a neat and catchy caption underlining one leading trait or stylistic feature, for example: "Embrace Precision with the Brishaspati Chronograph" or "Discover the allurement of Alankaar Automatic." The pricing here is shown boldly, usually original price struck to show the after-discount one, thereby rendering the offers attractive. For example, the Everest Gun Metal is available at a discounted price of Rs 24,500 from its original price of Rs 26,000. Social proof comes in the form of a star-based rating system, sourced from customer feedback and indicating the popularity of a particular model. It also includes the ratings, like 4 out of 5 stars for some of the watches, including the Brihaspati and Everest Gun, while for others, like the Alankaar, it is 3 out of 5. In each product listing, there is a very conspicuous "Add to Cart" button in a contrasting colour that calls for immediate action, making it easier to buy. It probably includes a hover effect where the product image or "Add to Cart" button may be subtly highlighted on hover, enhancing user interaction even more. Watches span from the fashionable Urban Chrono in "modern times" styling, to sporty Supersport and hi-tech T-Touch. The product page looks great, be informative, be easy to use, and turn browsers into buyers.

The page features a dark header with the brand logo and navigation links for Home, Product, Blog, Research, About Us, Contact, and a shopping cart icon. Below the header is a grid of 12 watch models arranged in three rows of four. Each watch card includes a small image, the model name, a brief description, the original price in red, the discounted price in black, a yellow star rating, and an 'Add to Cart' button.

2.3.3 Product Specification Page

The individual product page for every watch is neat and clean. It contains one big image of the watch and other variants' thumbnail. One can look for available different colors for same product. Name of product along with its original and discounted price can be seen. A quantity selector allows customers to choose how many units they want to buy, with a default value of "1." The "Add to Cart" button is easily accessible. A "Product Details" section lists some key specifications of the watch. One can see other people's rating and review on product. There is a button "Write a review" for customers to give their own feedback.

To build this page, a well-structured HTML, CSS and JavaScript code is maintained. Array concept of JS is used on switching the theme colour of watch. On clicking "write a review" button, another JS function is called which user to provide his rating and feedback. Also, after clicking the add to cart option, other function is called which increase the number in cart counter.

2.3.4 Blog Page

The Regal Time blog page shows about how the watch industry is influenced by new technologies. The most significant and crucial technological improvements like smartwatches, hybrid watches are mentioned here. Further, the blog underlines changes such as improved functionality and strength but also serious problems such as the loss of demand for classic watches and challenges in preserving skills from the traditional industry. It further investigates the shift in watch sales through e-commerce and virtual try-on experiences imposed by technology. The blog finally concludes that the watch industry has adapted by blending traditional craftsmanship with modern technology, offering a wide range of products to cater to diverse consumer preferences.

For designing this page, flex property is used. An eye-warming box shadow along with increased size on hover is ensured for user's readability. The title blog page is designed using inline CSS

About Technology

Technology has dramatically transformed the watch industry, blending traditional craftsmanship with modern innovations. The rise of smartwatches has introduced multifunctional timepieces that go beyond telling time, offering fitness tracking, health monitoring, GPS navigation, and seamless integration with smartphones. Hybrid watches combine the elegance of mechanical designs with smart features, while quartz movements, known for their precision and affordability, remain a staple. Advancements in materials like titanium and ceramic have made watches more durable and lightweight.

Positive Impact

The positive impact of technology on the watch industry has been transformative, driving innovation and broadening the appeal of timepieces to a wider audience. Smartwatches have revolutionized the industry by combining traditional timekeeping with advanced features like fitness tracking, health monitoring, and mobile connectivity, making them indispensable tools for modern consumers. Additionally, innovations in materials such as titanium, ceramic, and solar-powered movements have improved durability, comfort, and sustainability, enhancing the overall value of watches. Mechanical watchmaking has benefited from advancements in precision and power reserves, ensuring the continued relevance of traditional timepieces.

Negative Impact

Despite the many benefits of technological advancements, the watch industry has also faced some negative impacts. The rise of smartwatches has led to a decline in the demand for traditional mechanical watches, particularly among younger consumers who prioritize multifunctionality and convenience over craftsmanship. As a result, some iconic watchmakers have seen their market share shrink, and the shift toward digital devices has made it challenging to preserve traditional watchmaking skills and craftsmanship.

Technological Impact on Watch Sales

Technology can significantly boost the sales of watches by enhancing the customer experience, streamlining operations, and expanding market reach. E-commerce platforms, powered by advanced algorithms and AI, allow watch brands to offer personalized recommendations, targeted advertising, and seamless online shopping experiences, making it easier for consumers to find the perfect timepiece. Virtual try-on technology, using augmented reality (AR), enables customers to visualize how a watch would look on their wrist before purchasing, reducing the uncertainty of online shopping.

Overall Conclusion

The watch industry has undergone significant transformation in recent years, driven by technological advancements that have reshaped both the functionality and design of timepieces. From the rise of smartwatches offering health monitoring, fitness tracking, and seamless connectivity, to innovations in materials and manufacturing processes enhancing durability and precision, technology has breathed new life into the sector. While challenges such as the shift toward digital devices and market saturation exist, the industry has adapted by blending traditional craftsmanship with modern needs, offering a wide range of products that cater to both tech-savvy consumers and those who value luxury and heritage.

2.3.5 Research Section

This is a reference page is made mainly through HTML tables. On the left side of the table, it displays five different watch-related web pages: Samaya, Gurkha, Darar, Time and Watches, and Just Watches as "Reference Pages. Crucially, each screenshot of these reference page is a clickable link leading to the original source website. On the right side of the table, corresponding to each reference page, is a section labelled "Our Page" that shows how those referenced elements were implemented in the Regal Time website design. This "Our Page" section also includes a screenshot and notes on what was "Added More" or changed in the Regal Time version compared to the reference. At the very bottom of this table, it leads to a "Summary of unique feature and functionality" which consists of things like an interactive cart system, colour customizing, and a star-rating review system which we implement in our website

2.3.6 About Us Page

This "About Us" page introduces the Regal Time team members. Each of the team members is presented with own picture, name, position (all described as "Student"), and a short quote from us regarding time. The quotes stress the value of time management, productivity, and balance. A "Know More" button is included with each of the introductions to the team members, suggesting a link to individual portfolios or more detailed profiles.

Technically speaking, this page is done with CSS Flexbox, using row-reverse for ordering elements in a particular way-flipping between image and text order, presumably. A hover effect is implemented as well but can't be seen on this static picture. This page provides a small view into the team and what values they stand for in relation to time, while linking off to individual, more in-depth member profiles.

The screenshot shows the 'Meet Our Team' section of the Regal Time website. It features four team members in individual cards:

- Sushan Pudasaini (Student): "Time is the one resource equally available to everyone. How we use it defines our achievements and satisfaction." Know More
- Anjal Bhattacharai (Student): "The pressure of deadlines and the passage of time often inspire creativity and drive progress in various fields." Know More
- Bikash Chaurasiya (Student): "Efficient time management is critical for personal and professional success. It allows individuals to maximize productivity and minimize stress." Know More
- Surya Naryan Yadav (Student): "Properly managing time helps maintain a balance between work, leisure, and personal responsibilities, leading to a fulfilling life." Know More

At the bottom, there is a footer with links for Stay Connected (Facebook, Instagram, YouTube), Company info (Contact: +977-1234567890, Email: info@regaltime.com), Supported Payments (ePay, PayNow, Interac), and Legal links (Terms & Conditions, Shipping & Return). The footer also includes the copyright notice © 2025 Regal Time.

2.3.7 Individual CV Page

This is the individual CV or resume page for one of a member of the Regal Time team, Anjal Bhattarai. It outlines his background, which includes education, experience, and skills. The page is laid out with clear sections for Contact Information, Education, Experience, Professional Skills, Languages, and Hobbies. A prominent "Back" button is available to go back to the "About Us" page.

Technically, the page is designed in CSS, using position: relative and position: absolute to place elements on the page with accuracy. The positioning allows for overlap, layering, and fixed positioning within the page structure. It's a clean design, clear, and well-organized, presenting Anjal's qualifications in a professional, easy-to-read format. Similarly, we've individual CV for every other team members as well.

2.3.8 Contact Page

This contact us page for Regal Time is designed in a clean, modern manner; several CSS features have been used in its layout and styling. Flexbox is used to provide flexible and responsive arrangement of elements, making sure the page adapts well to different screen sizes. Box shadow adds depth and visual interest to elements such as the form container, giving it a subtle lift effect. Border radius gives a rounded feel to the corners of elements, softening the look and adding to the polish of the design. Background colors are used judiciously to define sections and create visual contrast, making it softer on the eyes and directing the user's eye.

The page also includes a working contact form for gathering feedback and inquiries from the user. JavaScript validation ensures the integrity of the data and hence checks required fields, valid email format, and other errors before actual submission. Client-side validation ensures users' satisfaction since it gives instant feedback without sending information to the server for processing. The form fields include name, email, phone number, and message, thus allowing users to give detailed information. A checkbox for newsletter subscription is provided in the form so that users may get updated regarding offerings and new packages that Regal Time may come up with in the future.

3. Testing

Various testing has been done to show the functionalities of our website. The importance of testing comes with error detection and correction. Testing also builds reliability and reproducibility.

Many testing are done to verify the claim mentioned above. Some of the major testing are shown below:

3.1 Test no.1: Checking the hover effect in navigation bar.

Table 1: Test 1(Hover effect in navigation bar)

Objective	To check the hover effect in navigation bar.
Action	Hover the mouse cursor to any page title in navigation bar.
Expected Result	Navigation bar should change when hovered and the text to be appeared with underline.
Actual Result	Navigation bar is changed when hovered and the text appeared with underline.
Test	The test was successful.

4. Conclusion

In Conclusion, Regal Time is one of those projects from which we learned a lot, being the first step into the world of web development. We used this project to apply our theoretical knowledge of HTML5, CSS3, and JavaScript in order to create an ecommerce website that should be both functional and aesthetically pleasing. Although the project focused solely on frontend development, it laid a very solid foundation for further improvements in the future.

Key takeaways from the project include simplicity and user-centered design. By developing a clean and intuitive interface, users' experiences could be enhanced while making sure that the website was easy to work with. The product page, where the users would go through each watch in great detail, was the highlight of this project, while they provided static reviews for the same. The add-to-cart icon, with its JavaScript-powered counter, provided that touch of interactivity, simulating a shopping experience without the need for actual backend functionality.

This is complemented by the fact that teamwork and communication are instrumental in achieving this. Working remotely and facing several coordination issues, we put our heads together to deliver this product, which reflects our combined effort and hard work. Furthermore, proper planning regarding time management showcased the fact that such a tight deadline compelled us to work efficiently, managing and prioritizing different tasks accordingly.

This brings us to our future thoughts on this web development journey. We will look into backend development soon to implement functionality like user authentication, dynamic product management, and a fully functional shopping cart. Also, we might want to study how AI features such as personalized product recommendations or customer support chatbots could be integrated into our website. All this would further extend the usability and interactivity of the Regal Time website to a whole new level.

More than the technical improvements, we are also very excited about the prospect of being able to turn this project into a real-world venture. Whether it be starting our own watch brand, selling the website to an existing business, or collaboration with industry professionals, the possibilities are endless. The Regal Time project has lit a fire of entrepreneurship and innovation within us, and we cannot wait to see where this journey takes us.

After all, Regal Time is not just a website; it's the mirror of our hard work, our creativity, and our determination. It has shown us that no matter how impossible an obstacle may seem, if we set our minds to it and work as a team, we can accomplish anything. We are proud of what we have done so far and look forward to doing even better projects in the future.

Future Aspirations and Ideas:

- i. Back-end Development: The integration of the backend for user accounts, dynamic updating of products, and a fully functional shopping cart.
- ii. Responsiveness: The website should be fully responsive, ensuring the best experience on any device.
- iii. Advanced Features: Filters, a search bar, and integrating a payment gateway.
- iv. AI Integrations: Implement AI integrations for personalized recommendations, chatbots, or even virtual try-ons for watches.
- v. Entrepreneurship: Selling the watch brand or this website to any existing business present in the market. Collaboration: With the designers, developers, or any other industrial expert for further development.

                Technology has dramatically transformed the watch industry, blending traditional craftsmanship with modern innovations. The rise of smartwatches has introduced multifunctional timepieces that go beyond telling time, offering fitness tracking, health monitoring, GPS navigation, and seamless integration with smartphones. Hybrid watches combine the elegance of mechanical designs with smart features, while quartz movements, known for their precision and affordability, remain a staple. Advancements in materials like titanium and ceramic have made watches more durable and lightweight.

      The positive impact of technology on the watch industry has been transformative, driving innovation and broadening the appeal of timepieces to a wider audience. Smartwatches have revolutionized the industry by combining traditional timekeeping with advanced features like fitness tracking, health monitoring, and mobile connectivity, making them indispensable tools for modern consumers. Additionally, innovations in materials such as titanium, ceramic, and solar-powered movements have improved durability, comfort, and sustainability, enhancing the overall value of watches. Mechanical watchmaking has benefited from advancements in precision and power reserves, ensuring the continued relevance of traditional timepieces.

      Despite the many benefits of technological advancements, the watch industry has also faced some negative impacts. The rise of smartwatches has led to a decline in the demand for traditional mechanical watches, particularly among younger consumers who prioritize multifunctionality and convenience over craftsmanship. As a result, some iconic watchmakers have seen their market share shrink, and the shift toward digital devices has made it challenging to preserve traditional watchmaking skills and craftsmanship.
